

THREEFOLD INCREASE IN CRIME HERE CITED

By FRANKLIN GUTHRIE
Jaycee Reporter

Crime has increased in this county threefold since 1926. Dealing into the extent of crime in Orange county, Judge James L. Allen of the superior court here, declared in an exclusive interview today that he has noticed a decided increase in crime figures during recent years.

Last year a total of 168 prisoners were sent to the penitentiary from Orange county, he said and estimated that this figure is approximately three times the number sent up 10 years ago.

The increase is attributed to the depression which overtook the United States in the last several years, he intimated.

Further observations were made when he flayed the newspapers as instigators of crime and as a hindrance to the capture and prosecution of criminals rather than an aid to the courts of justice. Judge Allen also labeled the moving picture and radio industries as forces impeding the progress of justice in its effort to suppress and stamp out crime in the country today.

Lighting his pipe, the former attorney here, said that more and more the youth of the nation are becoming implicated in this flourishing business.

"Today the cases which continually come before me are the youths, whose ages run from 18 to 25 years, the judge revealed.

He denied that the repeal of prohibition has had any effect upon the increase of cases and the conditions which prevail.

Continuing, Judge Allen described and explained the various types of cases which come under jurisdiction of the local courts. Cases, he said, are classified under civil, criminal and misdemeanor divisions. Civil trials in superior court, which may be tried by the judge alone, without juries, are always cases involving suits of more than $1000. Cases which may be tried by the judge alone, without juries, are always cases involving suits of more than $1000. Cases which may be tried by the judge alone, without juries, are always cases involving suits of more than $1000. Cases which may be tried by the judge alone, without juries, are always cases involving suits of more than $1000.

Proceeding to the arraignment of criminals before the court, he explained the manner by which an accused person is brought to court to stand trial. Preliminary hearings are held with the justice of the peace who investigates the case, hears the charges, and decides whether there is a true bill of indictment against the defendant. He is then committed to the superior court where he is held for trial at a later date.

There are two kinds of juries, which are known in court circles as the petty jury and the grand jury. Both are selected every year for these court proceedings.

Applicants wishing to serve as jurors file application and from the list of names submitted 200 are drawn for service during the coming court year. Each month, 40 or 50 names are again drawn and these are ordered as jurors for that period.

As a court trial opens, the possible jury is submitted and each lawyer is granted a stipulated number of challenges or opportunities to throw out anyone who may be unsatisfactory to his client. Twelve jurors constitute a jury.

The grand jury of 19 capable county business men and women is selected from a list of 50 names. It is their duty to examine the books of the county and hear all complaints, Judge Allen explained.

When a man is convicted of the charge, he is asked by the presiding judge if there is any reason why the law's sentence should not be pronounced. The judge admitted that the accused really has no reason, although it is a matter of procedure to ask the question.

The determination as to where the prisoner should go was his next explanation. If the convicted person has been in the penitentiary before he is sent to Folsom prison; San Quentin boards him if he has never been "up the river."

Smoke was rapidly filling the room as the judge puffed away. The court loses all trace of the prisoner until the time comes when application may be made for parole," he said. "Notification of the pending probation is then made to the judge who pronounced (Please Turn to Page 3, Col. 6)

BELGIAN TRIO MARKED FOR EXTORTION

Ex-Convict Nabbed For Threats to Steal King's Children

BRUSSELS, April 16. (AP)—A threat to kidnap the motherless children of King Leopold of the Belgians was disclosed today with the arrest at Liege, eastern Belgium, of a 31-year-old former convict, Nicholas Elsen.

Police of the city of Liege said the arrested man confessed to writing letters to the king, threatening to abduct the royal children, whose mother, Queen Astrid, was killed in an automobile accident, unless money was left in woods near the border city.

Police said Elsen laid in wait twice in the woods, in an attempt to capture the author of the letters, but that he failed to appear. The writer was finally traced, the police said, through a reference in one letter to the fact that the person threatening the kidnapping was a former convict.

King Leopold's children, who had been closely guarded in recent weeks during the investigation of the threats, left for a seaside holiday after Elsen was arrested.

Demanded $132,000

King Leopold also was leaving Brussels incognito today, to go to Switzerland.

Police said Elsen signed his letters "Gangster" and demanded 2,000,000 francs—about $132,000. He was released from prison last year after serving six years for theft.

King Leopold has three small children. Their mother, Queen Astrid, died in an automobile accident near Lucerne, Switzerland, last August 29 when her daughter, Josephine Charlotte, was 7 years old, her son, Baudoin, 3, and Albert, 14 months old.

15 Killed, 100 Hurt in Riot

WARSAW, April 16. (AP)—Fifteen persons were reported killed and at least 100 injured in a riot during a funeral procession in Lwow today.

Numerous cases of disorders have been reported in Poland in recent months. Most of these disorders centered around Jews. Several Jewish organizations protested that their members had been subjected to anti-semitic activities.

GIRL BEATS DOWN JAIL DOOR Frees Self and Her Lover

HARRISONVILLE, Mo., April 16. (AP)—A poker-battered door in the Cass county jail was the memento left today by a 21-year-old girl who freed herself and then released her brother-in-law and sweetheart, Perry E. Griffin, 24, a former minister.

The girl, Miss Madge Copeland, delivered her suitor from behind the bars last night after beating a hole in the wooden door of her own cell and then searching the sheriff's quarters until she found the jail keys. Sheriff Glenn Weaver and his wife were out for a ride at the time.

Five other prisoners did not choose to leave. Griffin and the girl were arrested almost a month ago, on

The three children of the widowed King Leopold of the Belgians, pictured above, were marked for kidnapping recently, it was learned today as Belgian police announced they arrested an ex-convict who assertedly had threatened to kidnap the royal trio if he were not paid $132,000.

Spanish Youngster Finds Faded Parchment in Attic at Home

An 11-year-old little Spanish girl today kept her mother from throwing away an old paper which was found to be a stained parchment manuscript written a year before the constitution of the United States in 1786.

Lucy Lopez was helping her mother clean up the attic in an old home they recently moved into at 600 East Fourth street. They were about to throw away the brown folded piece of paper when Lucy's curiosity was aroused. The little girl took it to her teacher at the Roosevelt school.

The wrinkled parchment is 32 inches long and 28 inches wide. Written in a script-like handwriting is "The last will and testament of Elizabeth Ellison late of Northumberland street in Newcastle upon Tyne aforesaid spinster—"

The former pastor of the Oak Grove Baptist church at Adonis, Mo., faced charges of highway robbery.

The father of three children, he and the girl fled from her parents' home at Creston, Iowa, and according to a statement attributed to them by officers, went on a trip through Oklahoma, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee and Illinois.

They were arrested at Springfield, Mo., March 19, and later were "forgiven" by Griffin's wife and both their families.

PENSION QUIZ IS 'BREAKING WIDE OPEN'

Probers to Stay Here For Month; Findings Are Kept Secret

LOS ANGELES, April 16. (AP)—Congressmen investigating the Townsend old age pension plan are "likely to remain in this territory for four weeks," Rep. Joseph Gavan (D., N. Y.) said today, because of "sensational" disclosures.

Public hearings will be held as soon as the committee's evidence "is in proper shape," he said, but no date has been set.

"We have found more startling things than we ever expected. Some of the evidence is of such sensational character that we will need public meetings to question certain persons," said the congressman.

"Breaking Wide Open"

"This thing is breaking wide open and we are beginning to get greater cooperation than we did at the start."

"What these disclosures are we must keep secret for the time being, so there will be no cover-up in certain quarters."

The congressional inquiry, he declared, may extend into Washington, Oregon, and other western states.

"It will include this whole western region where this Townsend movement started," he said.

Bond Issue Proposed

Meanwhile in Townsend ranks there was debate on whether Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the movement to pay all persons 60 or over $200 monthly, favors a national bond issue or a proposal (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

BUTTE, Mont., April 16. Castellano said the man, who wanted to fly to Spokane, aroused his suspicions when he left the airways office hurriedly after another person entered.

Embryonic Reporters Push Journal Staff into Corner; Edit Paper Like Veterans

By FRANK ROGERS

We had to crawl off into a quiet corner of the news room to write this and even then we aren't alone. Every so often some ambitious looking boy or girl, busier than a bee in springtime, looks at us with fishy eyes. "What are you doing?" We'd be afraid to answer if they asked us.

City Editor Jack Ellwanger has been crowded off his desk by a tall, handsome junior college boy, John Rabe. At least half a dozen girls have invaded the society department and backed Ellen Sneyler and Inez Effinger into a dark corner. Paul Wright and Frank Rogers have been shoved into the background by a trio of verbiage sportswriters—John Henry and Duncan Clark from the junior college and Ed Velarde from the high school.

Reason: John McCoy's junior college and high school journalism students are editing—and how—today's issue of The Journal.

WOMAN DIES ON GALLOWS WPA BEGINS 7TH MONTH

England Takes Life of Mother Who Killed Hospital Patient

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., April 16. (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Waddingham, 34-year-old mother of five children, died on the gallows of the Winslow Green prison today while police guarded the approaches against a demonstration in protest.

Mrs. Violet van der Elst, energetic campaigner against capital punishment, organized the demonstration, broadcasting appeals to a crowd of 2000 to attempt to prevent the hanging.

The throng looked on quietly, however, some smiling at Mrs. van der Elst's exhortations, some praying for Mrs. Waddingham while the convicted poison slayer of a patient in her Nottingham nursing home died within the prison.

King Edward himself was the only one who could have saved the woman from the gallows by granting a last-minute reprieve, after Home Secretary Sir John Simon denied appeals for clemency.

A wave of protest throughout Britain over the hanging of the mother was countered by press statements, terming the poison death of the 50-year-old patient, Mrs. Louisa Baguley, a flagrant offense.

Mrs. Waddingham was the ninth woman to be executed in Great Britain since the start of the century.

The other project scheduled to get under way today is one for additional improvement of camps, Irvine, calling for an expenditure of $5839 of federal and county funds, which will be used in repairing buildings, fences, and leveling ground.

The first project that the local WPA took over when it began operation six months ago was building the community hall at Brea.

Two additional WPA projects went into operation today, according to Dan Mulholland, Orange county director of the WPA. One is a project for a state park at San Clemente calling for $13,877 of federal and state funds. About 18 men will be employed, who will plant trees, grade trails, and do general landscaping work. In addition there will be 25 special parking spaces made or auto trailers.

COLLINS SEES FLOOD BILL ADOPTION

Supervisor Smith Leaves For East Tonight to Attend Hearings

Belief that the Orange County flood control program, now under consideration in congress at Washington, will be included in the flood control bill finally passed, was expressed today by Congressman Sam L. Collins, Fullerton, in a statement to The Journal. The program, which calls for a dam to be located at Prado, is part of a flood control bill for which projects have been recommended by army engineers.

"I have talked to the army engineers who testified before the senate committee, and the facts and figures submitted to this committee were predicated on the application from Orange county," Mr. Collins said.

Supervisor Willard Smith told The Journal today that he was leaving for Washington tonight, where he will attend the senate hearings on the flood control bill. Mr. Smith said he received a telegram from George M. Malone, consulting engineer for the county, saying that he arrived in Washington last night and will attend the senate hearings today.

The application referred to by Mr. Collins was made when Orange county received a grant from the PWA to aid the financing of the water program calling for a dam at Prado, as desired by Orange county interests.

Final Proposition Uncertain

Whether the report to be submitted in the senate will be as already proposed in the tentative report was uncertain, he said. "I am inclined to think, however, that the bill passed will be substantially the same as this report," he stated.

The report submitted by the senate committee and the report by the house do not correspond exactly for the allotment for the Orange county project.

The house report estimates the cost at about $12,445,000, while the original senate commerce committee estimate was $13,000,000, before the suggested increase. Although the allotment estimates differ, Mr. Collins pointed out that the wording of the bill is exactly the same in many instances. However, the house report contemplated development on both the upper and lower basins of the proposed project site, while the senate committee report contemplates development of only the lower basin.

COUNCIL COUP BLOCKED BY INJUNCTION

Mayor Smith, Officials Named; Plot to Oust Fate Is Charged

Heated scrambling for political power in the Spanish village of San Clemente burst into open flame late yesterday.

In a sudden move to safeguard a victory by his party already won at the polls Tuesday, City Councilman Henry Fate took legal steps to insure holding his position, when he applied for a writ of injunction against Mayor A. T. Smith and the remainder of the council, whom he charged with attempting illegally to oust him.

Mr. Fate charged that Mayor Smith, until this week leader of the majority block on the council, was planning to declare his seat on the council vacant and to appoint someone friendly to the Smith faction.

The balance of power had been wrested from Mayor Smith by the victory of Dan Mulholland and Miss Lillian Coe in the Tuesday balloting. They opposed Councilman Thurman for two vacant seats.

Previous to the election the council composed of Smith, Councilman Thurman and Councilman David G. Kinney, had held too much strength for the Henry Fate-Earl Von Bon Horst alignment, it was said.

Until Monday, Mayor Smith nominally still controls the council, as Councilman Von Bon Horst and Thurman do not resign until that time, when ballots are checked. In the meantime a "lame duck" session of the council is slated for tomorrow night. It was then that Mayor Smith, according to Mr. Fate, planned his coup.

Grounds for the action were to have been that Mr. Fate, war-house foreman in Santa Ana for (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

DEATH TAKES NEW QUINTS

Mal-Formed Babies Die Day After Birth to Rumanian Woman

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 16. (AP)—Authorities at Oradea reported today that quintuplets born to a gypsy mother near that city had died.

Physicians said that the children were too badly malformed to live.

The children and their mother, Mrs. Maria Ljnguraru, 25, yesterday were rushed by gendarmes from Hodos, in the Bihor district of Transylvania, to a hospital in Oradea, and put under the care of Dr. George Jankulisku.

One of the five was born separately, he said, the other joined in pairs. Gov. Johan Piku of the Bankia district and Dr. Jankulisku said the children were "not like children," at all in appearance, but "animal like."

The mother was reported recovering from the ordeal. She was aided only by her husband, Alexander Ljnguraru, who had gone with her into a field to work.

Tornado Fatal to Pair in Texas

DALLAS, Tex., April 16. (AP)—Two deaths and heavy property and crop damages were credited today to tornado winds which ripped through southwest Texas during the night, bringing hard thunder showers to the parched region.

The capsize fishing boat of S. Jester Roach, 30, and L. B. Hanson, 25, was found today to a trotline in the middle of Lake Nasworthy, near San Angelo, but no trace of the probably drowned men was found by searchers.

ITALIANS DUE IN ADDIS ABABA IN THREE DAYS

ROME STAGES CELEBRATION OF VICTORY

Fascist Commander to Lead Motor Troops Into Capital

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press) GENEVA, April 16.—Ethiopia demanded tonight that the League of Nations immediately invoke all sanctions at its command—including military force—against Italy whose legions already are reported advancing on the high road leading into Addis Ababa.

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press) ROME, April 16.—Fascist Italy unfurled its flags of victory in celebration of the occupation of Dessye today, confident that its East African legions were on the high road to Addis Ababa and completion of the conquest of Ethiopia.

Cheering throngs swarmed into the Piazza Venezia, ranging before the office of Premier Mussolini for a triumphant demonstration. Other crowds gathered in the Piazza Colonna.

Capital Celebrates
This ancient capital of a Roman empire was draped in flags, as was the rest of the kingdom, at the orders of Il Duce. A flying column, composed of hundreds of trucks, flanked by tanks and wheeled over by airplanes, sped from Dessye toward Addis Ababa today, Italian press dispatches said.

The mechanized Fascist forces will reach Ethiopia's capital within three days, the Italian advisers said.

At the same time, another column may move southeast and overtake Ras Nasibu's troops at Harar, second city of Ethiopia, from the rear.

On every hand, the fall of Addis Ababa was called imminent.

Troops on Road
Military sources said the probability was that Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander-in-chief of the East African armies, would form a powerful motor column to take advantage of the road running over the 175 miles from Dessye to the capital itself.

The Italian press devoted its headlines to reports that Badoglio's troops were already on this road.

Victory-flushed Fascists saw but a single cloud on their horizon—Great Britain, leader of the sanctions campaign.

Personal criticism against Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary and League of Nations delegate, increased in the controlled Italian press, but Fascists declared their confidence in that Italy would beat both the league's sanctions and Ethiopia's warriors.

Peace Hopes Threatened
Adoption of additional league penalties against Italy, a reliable source indicated, would bring suspension of the peace negotiations in which Baron Pompeo Aloisi was participating with Salvador de Madariaga, chairman of the league's conciliation committee.

Reports that Prince Asfa Wosane, Dessye with 1000 men, just before the Italians arrived yesterday, revived Fascist rumors that the heir to Emperor Haile Selassie's throne had decided to go over to the Italian side.

This recalled conjectures made in Rome by many well-informed sources that the Italians would choose Asfa Wosane as a puppet ruler for Ethiopia.

Disorders in Spain Continue

MADRID, April 16. (AP)—Violent clashes between Leftist and Rightist groups reached into the Spanish parliament and brought reports today of several persons killed in a mob demonstration near Cadiz.

In addition President Augenio Elzaguirre of the Seville Audiencia court, was set upon near his home by six extremists who left him badly wounded in the chest and thigh. The Italian press reported today a court which sentenced to death a Leftist for killing a Fascist. The parliamentary fist fight came after a speech by a Communist deputy.

DRILLING BAN FOR BEACHES ON BALLOT

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press) SAN FRANCISCO, April 16. (AP)—The Natural Resources Revenue Association of Southern California asked Attorney General U. S. Webb today to title an initiative revenue measure which would prohibit any more oil wells on California beaches.

The measure proposes that oil deposits beneath shallow off-shore ocean water be drilled through slantwise wells under special leases to upland owners. It proposes such leaseholders shall pay to the state 14.7 per cent of the value of all oil drilled.

Half the funds thus received would go to the general fund, to reduce taxation, and half to the state park commission to use for maintaining and improving public ocean beaches, and for extending the state park system.

Sponsors of the measure, which was submitted by Albert Dorris of Los Angeles, estimate it would bring in from $1,000,000 to $1,250,000 annually.

MORE ABOUT SAN CLEMENTE

the Orange County Works Progress administration, no longer maintaining a legal residence in the village founded by Ole Hanson. It was feared that Mayor Smith would appoint a defeated Councilman Thurman to fill Mr. Fate's seat, if he succeeded in ousting him.

Action of Mr. Fate in securing the injunction, which has been set for hearing April 24 before Superior Judge G. K. Scofield, will forestall any action by the mayor until after Monday, at which time Mr. Smith will become powerless, as the balance of voting strength will lie with Mr. Mulholland, Miss Coe and Mr. Fate.

Last year a similar squabble wrecked the political equanimity of the town when Mr. Von Bon Horst made sensational charges against Mayor Smith, after the mayor had ousted him from his position as police and fire commissioner on grounds of extravagance and incompetency.

Councilman Von Bon Horst at that time threatened legal action against the mayor, and went so far as to start a recall action against Mayor Smith. The mayor retaliated with a similar action against Mr. Von Bon Horst. Neither got to the polls, although the affair received widespread publicity.

Two years prior to that time the same political split resulted in a recall action directed against Mr. Von Horst, which failed by the slim margin of one vote.

Councilman Fate has not been publicly embroiled in the squabbles of the village before this.

Mr. Von Bon Horst, who did not run for re-election, recently was appointed supervisor of the newly established WPA transient camp at San Clemente by Mr. Mulholland, Orange county WPA manager.

A few months ago the entire political machinery of San Clemente nearly was abandoned when large property holders in the district refused to make any tax payments. An ordinance was passed calling for the abandonment of municipal functions, but the city was given new life when the Bank of America paid up on tax-delinquent holdings, for which the bank was trustee.

The city immediately embarked on an ambitious program of advertisement and promotion, featured by a lavish three-day Spanish fiesta and rodeo. Since then it appears to have weathered the financial storm.

MAY DECIDE WITNESS IN CONTEMPT

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—The trial of a witness to answer questions today abruptly halted a senate lobby committee hearing and raised the possibility of contempt proceedings.

Committeemen said they would meet this afternoon to decide whether to cite the witness—Kurt Grunwald, organizer for the Farmers Independence council—for contempt.

"I don't want to get anybody in trouble," Grunwald said, when asked whom he had contacted for his anti-AAA organization.

"Would you get anybody in trouble?" asked Chairman Black (D., Ala.).

"I'd be a damn fool to give the names. You bet your boots I'd get them in trouble under this New Deal."

Committeemen coincidentally studied methods of getting funds denied by the house for its legal battles. Senators said there were "numerous ways" of getting money for fighting injunction proceedings brought by William Randolph Hearst, even though the house refused yesterday a $10,000 allotment.

Termination of the proceedings today came after committeemen had asked Grunwald whom he solicited for support in Nebraska.

PEACE OFFERED IN DOCK WAR

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16. (AP)—The Pacific coast district of the International Longshoremen's Association today pledged its support to stand by the local unit, headed by Harry Bridges, militant longshore leader, in its labor dispute with the Waterfront Employers' association.

William J. Lewis, president of the district, announced its support of the Bridges group and at the same time extended a peace offer to the employers to settle the tense situation which has tied up the Grace liner Santa Rosa here.

Shippers meanwhile began diverting their vessels from this port, fearing their ships likewise would be detained by longshoremen's refusal to handle cargoes.

Moriarty's Son Charges Murder

LOS ANGELES, April 16. (AP)—John Moriarty, son of Dr. and Mrs. William D. Moriarty killed in a bomb explosion in their automobile, told newspapermen today he believed his father was murdered.

Police J. S. Bouldin of Anaheim testified that he had attempted to serve a non-support warrant on Meirs two years ago, but was unable to find him.

Leo Riis, Anaheim, is appearing as attorney for Mrs. Spillman. Meirs is represented in the court action by Tom L. McFadden, Anaheim. The hearing is being held before Superior Judge G. K. Scofield.

IONS HEAR OF ANTARCTIC

"Thirty-seven degrees above zero was the record heat wave at Little America," according to Richard Blackburn Black, scientist on the second Byrd expedition to the Antarctic. Mr. Black disclosed an "inside story" of his adventures with the famed exploring party at the South Pole.

Arriving at Little America on their second trip, the explorers found the entire settlement covered except the radio towers and bamboo poles. The tiny outpost rests on a sheet of ice 280 feet deep floating on water 1600 feet in depth.

Because of the intense cold, the party was obliged to wear face masks during their exploring trips. Nearly 600 seals were killed to provide 150 husky dogs with food.

"The whaling industry plays a much larger part in the Antarctic than many realize," Mr. Black continued. "Approximately 20,000 whales are harpooned each year."

Dale Decker, program chairman, introduced Mr. Black. Piano selections by Ray Rayman and a short business meeting completed the program.

Pleads Innocence In Non-support

Gilbert French, Santa Ana, charged with non-support of four minor children, pleaded not guilty before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison today and demanded a trial by jury.

The complaint against French was made by his wife, Mrs. Elvira French, 1118 Orange avenue. Judge Morrison set bail at $500. The trial has been set for April 28. French is in the Orange county jail at present on a drunk charge.

Eight Nabbed for $500,000 Robbery

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—The justice department pressed for quick action today against eight men arrested in connection with the disappearance of more than a half million dollars worth of bonds from a New York bank 16 months ago.

INCOMPETENCY CASE Of Girardelly Goes to Jury

With the testimonial today of Mrs. Esther Rasmussen of Long Beach, it was evident that the trial involving the competency of Mrs. Sophie Girardelly, 79, of Santa Ana, to be mentally capable of handling her own estate, will go to the jury of six men and women this afternoon or possibly tomorrow.

Mrs. Girardelly has been denied her $10,000 estate three times previously, being thwarted by her incompetent and mentally unfit to be left in possession of her money.

The jury, consisting of six men and six women, was selected late yesterday. During the day a parade of expert witnesses for Mrs. Girardelly went to the witness stand in an attempt to persuade the jury of her competency.

Dr. D. A. Harwood, Dr. J. M. Burlew and Dr. E. G. Motley of Santa Ana all testified as to her fitness to handle her own financial affairs.

Dr. Motley injected a light note into the proceedings when he told of how Mrs. Girardelly "out-slickered" him during an examination in 1933.

"I presented a bill for the examination," he said, "and told her she'd have to pay. 'I'll do no such thing,' she told me. 'I didn't ask for this examination and I certainly don't intend to spend any money for it,' she said. 'I think she's got along all right.'"

The jury consists of A. R. Todhunter, H. A. Robinson, Alice Stevens, Inez Lehman, Margaret Colvin, Ruth Berry, Alex Grant, Irene Anderson, E. S. Sullivan, J. M. Gunnert, Marie Braybrooks and Charles Chansler.

Local Mexicans May Work In Wyoming

An exodus of 300 to 500 Mexican field workers from Orange county loomed as a possibility today when it was learned that the Great Western Sugar company is seeking 3000 beet thinners from Southern California. The workers are to be taken to Billings, Mont., from where they will be sent to the fields.

The men are wanted the latter part of May, it is understood, and would be paid $5.50 per acre for thinning beets.

From a check of local labor headquarters it was tentatively estimated that about 300 to 500 such workers would be available from Santa Ana. Lucas Lucio, local representative for the Mexican consul at Los Angeles, declared that "I don't believe these Mexicans will go unless they are sure of making a living."

Murphy's death raises the total of persons killed in traffic accidents when it was learned that the vehicle owned by Robert Murphy, 20, at this time last year only 16 persons had been killed.

Thieves Take Oil Drilling Tools

George Nugent, Yorba Linda, informed deputy sheriffs today that oil drilling equipment had been stolen from the boiler house of an oil rig on Buena Vista avenue, near Highland avenue, east of Arcadia. The theft occurred either on April 13 or 14, he said.

SAFETY FIRST PROGRAM ON AIR TODAY

Aligning themselves with the idea of making the driving public safety-minded, the High 9-J social study class of Willard Junior High school in Santa Ana, of which Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the adult education department, is instructor, will present a special safety broadcast from KVOE this evening at 5:30.

One of the best written by the class on traffic safety will be read by Grace Cook and other members of the class will add original views of the subject in a panel discussion. The safety topic is a regular class assignment.

Other members of the class to take part in the broadcast include David Terhune, Clifton Steele, Jack Maier, Peter Woods, Gloria Spoford, Angelina Murillo and Barbara Tucker. The broadcast program, he distinctly worthwhile and of interest to adults and children as well.

Humor Will Reign

A somewhat somber yet humorous mood will prevail in tonight's presentation by the Sons of the Pioneers at 6:45 when they will include three "classics" of philosophical introspection, "Gambler's Blues," otherwise known as "St. James Infirmary," "Round-Up in the Sky" and "Birmingham Jail." To brighten up things a bit, the man on the flying fiddle, Hugh Farr, will offer the fast-moving hoe-down "Fine Time at Our House."

In response to popular demand, an hour's presentation of popular dance music, featuring the rhythm of the nation's favorite dance orchestras, will be offered KVOE listeners tonight beginning at 7 o'clock.

Under the title of "Lady Duds," a delightfully amusing story will be dramatized in tonight's "Front Page Drama" on KVOE at 8:45. It will tell what happens to a society butterfly who romanced with a real he-man. The laughable deponent stars Ethel Silson, now appearing on Broadway.

Sacred Hour Planned

"God Cares" will be the theme of tomorrow morning's "Clinic of Christian Living" broadcast to be made at 9:15 by the Rev. Joseph H. Thompson, pastor of the Wintersburg Community Methodist church. The two hymns, "Does Jesus Care" and "I Come to the Garden Alone" will be sung by the delightful, well-trained voices heard on the program every Tuesday and Friday at the same hour. Points of the message will include: (1) Provisions made us in nature. (2) The receptive mind and heart. (3) The assurance of God's presence.

Common sense suggestions for providing guidance of children by their parents in the choice of radio programs and a discussion of the "thrillers" and other types sometimes considered to have a harmful influence will be discussed in tomorrow morning's "You and Your Radio" broadcast from KVOE at 11:30. An analysis of the problem, as seen by the Radio Institute of Audible Arts will be given.

ARRAIGN FOUR FOR THEFTS

Four avocado thieves, arrested at 4:20 p. m. yesterday, were arraigned before Justice of the Peace D. T. Hayden in Tustin and held under $50 bond each pending their trial tomorrow afternoon.

The four men, Arturo Sato, 55, of El Modena, Faustino Cruz, 33, Joe Pedrose, 35, and Elario Orta, 53, all of Alwood, are being held in Orange county jail on a charge of petty theft. They were arrested while driving a car containing the stolen fruit yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Ives Brown and by Special Deputy Harold Kirkhart on Irvine property. Approximately 35 pounds of Irvine avocados were found in their possession, officers said.

One of the men arrested in the car with the avocados claimed he did not know that they were there. According to the testimony of the officers, however, he was sitting nearly astride the stolen fruit.

Dynamite Truck Driver Saves Lives of Pupils

LONG BEACH, April 16. (AP)—Albert K. Peake, 31, driver for a geophysical company, had 165 pounds of dynamite and 200 detonators in his truck.

And so, when he drove down an incline yesterday at the end of a bridge on the outskirts of Long Beach and saw a school bus carrying 25 children turning into the highway, he acted quickly, slamming on the brakes.

His truck swerved, turned over in a ditch, and hit a telephone pole. There was no explosion.

Peake was bruised, and one of his companions, Robert Price, 25, sustained several broken ribs.

And everyone concerned was nervous.

Y.M.C.A. MEMBERSHIP RATES TO BE RAISED

New Y. M. C. A. membership rates will go into effect May 1, Glenn Tidball, chairman of the finance committee of the association, announced here today.

The new price will supplant the "depression" rates which have been maintained for the past three years, Tidball pointed out.

The annual membership fee includes the use of the association's gymnasium, swimming pool, shower, baths and the four-wall handball court, which is the only one of its kind in Santa Ana.

"We are not asking men to join as contributors, but we are urgently inviting them to take advantage of the privileges of our building program, for their own good and pleasure. On May 1 the membership dues will be advanced to the level of 1930, so we are offering a friendly tip when we say 'join now and save money.'"

TRAVELING SCHOOL OF SAFETY VISITS HERE

Many Santa Ana citizens viewed the Johns-Manville Travelling School of Safety which stopped at the city hall yesterday afternoon for several hours. The large vehicle was sponsored by local civic authorities and by a brake lining corporation.

A unique "Reflex-o-Meter" in the safety school tested the reaction time of visitors to stop signals. It was found that it took the average Santa Ana four-fifths of a second to apply the brake of an automobile after being alarmed. Figures compiled by safety experts revealed that in four-fifths of a second a vehicle going 40 miles per hour will travel 53 feet.

Five local policemen attained an average of three-fifths of a second reaction time. This was considered a good speed in view of the fact that Sir Malcolm Campbell, English auto racer, held the record of applying the brake in one-fourth second.

It was learned that the Traveling School of Safety will tour 11 western states and British Columbia.

Here and There With

Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINE

By STANLEY F. WILSON
(Battling for Brick Gains)
TODAY we pause to let a Tustin pioneer speak.
Predicting a bright future in the citrus industry, C. E. Utt, prominent local rancher, discussed current agricultural problems and recalled early history of the county in an informal interview yesterday.

The 70-year-old rancher whose picturesque home crowns the summit of Lemon heights and overlooks the valley he has helped to develop, came here in 1874. Interested in agriculture since boyhood, he has been an erstwhile peanut king and grapejuice manufacturer. But ranching is his chief interest.

Utt favors the idea of pro-rating citrus. A great deal of objection has been raised against this measure mainly through misunderstanding, he said.

"I believe the last two administrations have helped the farmer by loaning him money. But I don't think they should try to restrict and regulate farming," he stated.

In his opinion, canned orange juice will not be as injurious as many claim. The same talk was raised when they began to can tomato juice and milk.

"Fortunes will still be made and lost raising oranges. There is only a certain belt suitable to their culture," he added.

Avocados Need Development
A great deal of development is needed in the avocado industry. He prophesies a fair future for this fruit about 20 years from now.

Utt traced the development of agriculture in the district over a period of 60 years. At that time, Tustin and Santa Ana were a huge mustard field. Sheep, cattle, and a little corn, barley, and potatoes were raised. Anaheim was the largest town in the valley. The German colony was the center of a thriving grape industry.

Vineyards spread throughout the county until the disastrous Anaheim disease 45 years ago destroyed practically every vineyard within two years.

Next oranges, walnuts and apricots were planted. Apricots have faded and walnuts are on the wane. The heavy walnut was introduced some 30 years ago.

A Farmer At Heart
"Am I glad I choose ranching as a life job?" He chuckled. "I think I've worn out two or three sets of fingernails scratching in the ground to see if seeds had sprouted. I have wanted to be a farmer. But at times I've thought I'd like to build suspension bridges."

"I started growing peanuts as a little boy and grew them for about 30 years—testing them in different parts of the state." At one time he had a factory sheller and sold peanuts to the Bishop company.

The grapejuice plant was more or less a sideline. "I couldn't find a market for my grapes—the slip variety I had were different than the others that were grown nearby."

Cooked On Kitchen Stove
He experimented on the kitchen stove. The results were the foundation for Utt Queen Isabella grapejuice which has been in Tustin for the last 15 years.

I asked him how he happened to build his imposing home on Lemon heights. In a reminiscent mood he told me that as a small boy he had hunted on these hills. He decided then that he was going to have a house up there someday.

Energetic, alert, and keen, he claims that "Life begins at 70 and becomes more interesting as you get older."

There is no substitute for good hard work, he declared. I've got to be busy to be happy."

And he is.

We notice that Ed Ainsworth of the L. A. Times likes to pass out bouquets occasionally to weekly newspaper publishers in the Southland. After talking the matter over with Nolan Hasson, who commutes back and forth to the local junior college from the Huntington Beach, we have it on good authority that the next bunch of bouquets should go to Jim Farquhar of the beach city.

Jim is editor and publisher of the Huntington Beach News and has a host of friends in this vicinity. Somehow during the course of each week he finds time to write and edit most of his paper and at the same time conduct the office of president of the Orange County Weekly Newspaper association in a very credible manner.

Farquhar is in the county tonight right now as he is contesting the validity of the law in seeking payment for advertisements the supervisors inserted in various newspapers during a recent campaign. And one has only to look at a copy of the Huntington Beach News to realize that its owner knows the value of political ads. Huntington was in the midst of a very, very warm city council campaign recently and the columns of last week's News fairly oozed with "vote for this man" advertising.

Another Farquhar is following in the footsteps of his dad and will soon be ready to go to work in the newspaper game. He is George Farquhar, now a student at the University of California.

H. B. AND LAGUNA CHAMBERS OPPOSE STATE PRISON SITE

WEEK'S QUIZ RESULTS IN ACTION

Laguna Directors Send Resolution to State Finance Director

Climaxing a week of investigation of proposed location of a state prison between Costa Mesa and Huntington Beach, a special committee of the Huntington Beach chamber of commerce yesterday recommended that the beach organization oppose the proposition. The membership approved the action. At the same time, action was also taken by the Laguna Beach chamber, opposing the plan.

Site for the state prison will be decided upon at a meeting in the state building in Los Angeles today. Arlin G. Stockburger, state finance director, said.

It was virtually assured that the penal institution would not be located in Orange county, as the result of the flood of objections received during the past few weeks by the committee in charge of selection of the site.

D. E. Burry, president of the Huntington Beach chamber, named a committee last week to obtain local sentiment regarding the prison site. Members of the investigating group were Willis R. Osborn, Sam Clapp and Jack Robertson. The committee's report follows:

"Your committee to investigate the location for a state institution, called a state prison, the site proposed being in our neighboring city, Costa Mesa, begs to report as follows:

"We feel that, due to county-wide opposition to the proposed site that we cannot at this time report to the board of directors of this chamber that favorable action be taken on this question and respectfully request that the matter be laid on the table or such other action taken as the board deems advisable."

Last week many members had spoken in favor of the proposed prison.

Members of the Laguna chamber adopted a resolution opposing the proposed site after discussion of the plan. A copy of the resolution will be sent to A. E. Stockburger, state finance director, in charge of selecting the site, it was decided.

Golden Rain
by Margaret Widdemer

SYNOPSIS: Iris Lanning, taken from the restricted life of an impecunious aristocrat in Persia, Pa., to the gilded life of her Aunt Phina and brother, Owen, in New York, finds herself having a great time. And a surprising one, too. She has just learned that big, awkward Camilla Wendell is a poet; in fact, she is reading some of her work. Camilla, incidentally, has tried tactfully to show Iris how empty much of her present life is—without the least success.

Chapter 25
BODILY BLOW
Iris looked up, her eyes full of tears. "You do beautiful work," she said. "Have you typed them and sent them out?"

Her father had done a little verse, and some art criticisms; she knew the procedure. Aunt Ella had typed clear beautiful copies on a little typewriter she bought, and had made a card index for sending and resending.

"Oh, I wouldn't dare!" "Yes, you would. That's silly. I'll tell you just how to do it."

She began a matter-of-fact description of Aunt Ella's routine. Camilla stared at her, her dark face lighted with excitement; to the excitement was added another expression that had never been there before—hope.

Just then Owen came in, whistling; a tune Iris knew in even this short time meant a few minutes of stolen heaven with Sigrid; it was a Norwegian folksong, his unconscious Sigrid-motiv. Camilla, poor girl, could not know. Iris saw her hands tremble, saw her turn eagerly. She was at her worst with Owen.

He greeted her with that slow kindness which he gave everyone and cast a look at his sister which meant "get rid of her."

So presently poor Camilla went, eager, hurt to the last moment. "Don't forget about the poetry," Iris said. It seemed all the comfort she could give her. Camilla squeezed her hand gratefully, and was gone.

"Gosh," said Owen, with a man's hardness, dropping on a chair. "Thanks for getting her out, Iris. You're a swell girl." He reached for a cigarette. "Any designs I make for the Camel are well-earned money, believe it or not."

"Oh, Owen! She's mad about you. And she is a real poet, I believe. She showed me some of her poetry."

But he strode off to change for dinner. Iris realized it was time she dressed too. She knew well enough that a heart of gold inside poor Camilla's nervous body had no chance against Sigrid's beautiful little Northern face with its wheels of silvery hair.

Learning a hard-fighting game of bridge was the thing Iris liked least. Phina was firm about it; she adored to bridge herself, and besides, as she pointed out, not being able to play it well was as bad as having dowdy clothes.

The three of them, with Honora called in, as she often was, to make a fourth, were playing a practice game one snowy January night.

"Too stormy to go to the show," Phina had decreed; "we'll work up your game a little."

They were sitting near the fire in the silver room, and Iris, a little drowsy with the fire and the dropping cards, wearied after a while.

"I'll play a fair game if you took it more seriously," her aunt said. "Who taught you?"

"Morgan Black!" Her mind flew back to Morgan, teaching her the beginning of contract with Uncle Will. Outwardly a little rough with her, but how gentle with her mistakes, how admiringly, how proud, when she played cleverly!

"Oh, yes, I wrote Will the other day—that reminds me—about the old music books you said you sang those songs from. He said Mr. Black would be coming over soon and he'd send them by him."

Iris's heart leaped. To see Morgan—to talk to him again!

"When?" "I don't know. When his lady-love desires, I gather. It seems he's decided to settle down in Persia for life with a girl named—was it Katie Oliver?"

"Kay Oliver?" Iris's voice was steady. She hoped her face was too. "Are you sure?"

"Well, nothing's sure but death and income taxes; I've only Will's word of it," Phina said carelessly. "Make it a heart."

Iris hoped she made her own bid in a voice that showed nothing. Men were like that. If you told them you didn't love them they found another girl who did. She hadn't known how sure she had felt of Morgan's continued love;

Men and Women

Santa Claus and Uncle Sam have gone into business together at 1248 South Main street where they are operating a Works Progress administration project to make toys for children of relief workers.

A whole organization is now working on a project which will insure poor children of a happy Christmas, regardless of the financial status of their parents. At 1248 South Main street W. P. A. workers are busy turning out new rag dolls, old tricycles, repainted red wagons, and the countless other kinds of toys that children love.

The project, known as the W. P. A. Furniture and Toy Repair project, employs 12 women as seamstresses and 13 men skilled in the repair of furniture, decorating, painting and cabinet making. The service rendered through this department of W. P. A. is absolutely free to county welfare clients.

Pearl M. Richards is head of the doll department; J. D. McShane is the supervisor of the toy and furniture repairing division. The work is under the general supervision of Fred D. Jayne. The project was begun March 6 and since that time 127 dolls in addition to innumerable other kinds of toys have been completed. There are at present 12 W. P. A. women workers in the doll department busy stuffing dolls, sewing dresses, trousers, hats, coats and everything that goes into the making of complete miniature men and women.

Here are some of the different kinds of the dolls that are turned out every day: Raggedy Ann, Dolly, Dot, Kipie, Iris, Rose, Sonny Boy, Mammy, and many others. It takes the inventive ability to produce new styles and fashions every day.

On the other side of the wood partition is the "graveyard" of playthings, including broken down coaster wagons, tricycles, and all the rest of children's delight. From this pile of broken down "machinery" is salvaged the wheels, handles, seats, and spare parts necessary to build a new machine. That is not all. Workmen are busy painting large boxes which will be used to build "houses" and "schools." The sides and ends of the boxes have different colors so that structures of various shades may be built.

ON THE POLITICAL
FRONTFRANK KNOX
(By The Associated Press)

Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, through frequent speeches has won himself a position as an issue-definer for his party.

Whether or not he is chosen as the Republican candidate, he is expected to be heard in vigorous criticism of the "New Deal" from one end of the land to the other before November.

He was one of the first to begin hammering at Roosevelt policies. He hit high taxes, demanded a balanced budget and sound currency, and challenged the administration to "restore private enterprise to its rightful owners." He finally announced his candidacy.

He is an energetic speaker, a proposer of programs, a maker of opportunity. His entire career has been of the same pattern. He enlisted in "T. R.'s" Rough Riders and won a lieutenant colonelcy in the World War. He began his professional career as a cub reporter and emerged publisher of a great Chicago daily.

Inside Story on College
Week Given Out by Sleepy
Newshawk Busy Resting

By G. WHATTA WEEK

Stanley Wilson, junior college journalist, inadvertently provided an "inside story" on collegiate week at Newport Beach while he and his classmates were putting out The Journal today. Mr. Wilson perhaps didn't realize his conversation with his fellow journalists was news.

"The thing that got me worst of all," remarked Mr. Wilson, "was the couples kissing on the dance floor. Kiss me quick, honey," was what one of the girls said to her partner. I don't know whether he was quick enough or not, because just then a couple of 200-pounders got in my way.

Life a la Circus

"Living in our apartments was like staging a three-ring circus—there was something going on all the time. We caught one fellow in the act of shining his white shoes with the dishrag. And did you ever try to shove yourself at the same time with another fellow in front of the same mirror?"

"Some of the plumbing in the place must have been installed at the time the missions were built. When we'd turn on the faucet the whole house would quiver. It sounded like a chorus of trumpeting elephants. You see, we didn't need an alarm clock."

"Some of the things the kids were were a riot. I saw a couple of girls with sun suits made out of towels from U. S. C. and Pasadena. The fellows were guady plaid shirts with squares big enough to play checkers on."

Here's a Sensation
"A few of the kids actually went swimming. I did myself, twice, but not of my own volition. The water was so cold that when you came out you felt like a peppermint—kind of hot and cold at the same time."

"I heard of two couples that went canoe riding. Because it was leap year, the fellows made the girls paddle. They had some beautiful blisters."

"The dance was awfully crowded. You could hardly go five steps without bumping someone. I hate to think of the number of quarts of shoe polish that must have been used that one week."

In Another

TRENTON, N. J., April 16. (AP) Exonerated of the kidnap-murder of baby Charles A. Lindbergh in Mercer county, Paul H. Wendel, disbarred lawyer, today remained in jail here pending action on a kidnap warrant in Hunterdon county, sworn out at Flemington by Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, widow of the executed slayer of the infant.

The Mercer county jury voted "no bill" without dissent last night. The Hunterdon county grand jury has not yet considered Mrs. Hauptmann's charge that Wendel kidnaped the Lindbergh baby, resulting from a confession Wendel later repudiated.

Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauke, Jr., of Hunterdon county, will present this case to the jury "if and when an investigation indicates the matter should be presented for appropriate action."

Embezzlement charges against Wendel in Mercer county also are pending. It was thought likely these would be held in abeyance that Wendel might go to Brooklyn to assist in an investigation into his story of being kidnaped and held prisoner in February.

Wendel claims he was held captive there and forced to sign the confession he later repudiated and on which he was exonerated last night.

"If major companies raise their prices another two cents, we will continue to sell at one cent below their rates," a local independent dealer said today.

Latest reports indicate the major distributors are planning to raise prices this week until a level of 20 cents per gallon for the regular grade is reached. In San Diego and other nearby cities the rates have begun a gradual raise to a 25 cent peak.

++ County Landmarks ++
Old Cave Near San Juan Capistrano
Was Used by Bandid Flores Gang

(In an effort to acquaint residents of Orange county with some of their most-prized historic possessions, The Journal is publishing a series of daily articles on county landmarks. These articles will describe their location and give historical facts concerning them. Today's article tells about an old bandit cave near Capistrano.—Editor.)

A little known spot of historic interest in Orange county is an old bandit cave located on Rancho Niguel near San Juan Capistrano. It is not accessible from a main highway and those planning to visit it should consult old-time residents of that region for explicit directions on how to reach it.

The cave, according to studies of Alfonso Yorba, once was used as a hideout by the notorious Juan Flores and his desperado crew. In 1857, Yorba says, the Flores gang was known as the "Manillas" and foregathered in the cave preparatory to raids on the surrounding country.

Once the cave had a ceiling 10 feet from its floor and five feet thick. There were two natural vents or chimneys formed by erosion. The cavern was 40 feet wide and 30 feet deep. There was a small, arch-like doorway four or five feet square. The cave probably was in this condition when it was used by the Flores gang in 1857.

Yorba believes that earthquakes and erosion brought about the wrecking of the cave. The center part has fallen in, leaving the two chimneys or vents on one side and a smaller cave on the other side.

The Flores gang is remembered for the killing of Sheriff Barton of Los Angeles in 1857. The sheriff and his party were on the way to San Juan Capistrano mission to preserve law and order when they were met and surprised by the Flores crew. Most of the lawmen were killed. Flores subsequently was captured and hanged.

DATE OF CCC

Set; Approximately
35 Youths Needed

That the date for enrollment of youths for the Civilian Conservation Corps camps has been extended to Saturday, April 25, although an original quota of 86 youths for the corps from this county was planned by the government. Room for an additional 35 in the new registration is now being contemplated, it was said.

Regulations effective in the past will govern the new applicants, Mrs. Spangler declared. Those eligible for enlistment in CCC are young men between the ages of 18 and 25 years, inclusive, whose families are now receiving relief from the government. With the scheduled physical examination for enrollees at March field, Riverside, on April 23, it will be necessary for applications for enrollment to be made to Mrs. Spangler soon. She stressed the necessity of submitting applications for the corps at once.

Bruno Extortion
Charge Dropped

NEW YORK, April 16. (AP)—The Bronx county court yesterday officially closed its extortion case against Bruno Richard Hauptmann, executed by the state of New Jersey for the kidnap-killing of the Lindbergh baby.

As a formal gesture, an assistant district attorney moved to quash the indictment charging Hauptmann with extorting the $50,000 ransom from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. Hauptmann was held in The Bronx on this indictment until he was turned over to New Jersey authorities. To the charge, he pleaded not guilty.

Judge Harry Strackell quickly approved the motion.

"Why should I
advertise my Citrus?"

"Why advertise at all? And why not let the other fellow pay for it?"

THESE are fair questions, deserving of fair and simple answers.

You are a lone grower, say, with a crop of oranges. You sit and wait for buyers, but none comes who will pay the price you want. You have faith in your fruit, in its deliciousness and healthfulness. So you go around and tell people about it. And finally you sell your fruit.

Multiply your case by thousands. But now there are not enough people close at hand to buy all the fruit, and the growers have to go all over the world, talking and selling.

They can't afford the expense, of course. But they can advertise, using colorful pictures and tested arguments—using magazines, newspapers, radio, outdoor posters, street car cards and other economical means.

Student Loan Benefit 'Wahoo Whirl' Planned by Jaysee Students for April 23

Gitanoas Club Sponsors the Affair

Hillbilly music and a good old-fashioned good time! This and much more is promised to all Jaysee students who attend the Las Gitanoas student loan benefit dance at Orange county park Thursday evening, April 23.

Each year the Las Gitanoas, women's service club, sponsors a dance to raise money for the student loan fund—and so this year a "wahoo whirl"—a modern dance given in an old fashioned way.

Early next week, when tickets go on sale in the student office, each patron will be given a small paper horse to wear signifying that they are "wahoing it" at the park on Thursday evening. Other plans which have not been revealed are promised by Gitanoas members with Elizabeth Sturtevant, club president, in charge.

One of the finest hillbilly bands obtainable has been secured for the benefit. Popular music, however will reign supreme.

The dance will undoubtedly attract a large percentage of the student body as it is the first social affair to take in the whole school since the skating party at Long Beach a month ago, although the Gauchos' spring sport dance is scheduled for Friday, May 1.

Elwood Bear Noon Luncheon Tells Love of Music Honors Two Visitors

By HELEN MARSHALL
"Temperament in musicians? Why, of course they have temperament—but that's very different from temper, the ink-well throwing, music-tearing variety. The Scotchman and the Englishman had to share the jokes with someone, so artistic temperament was invented."

With these reassuring words soothing me, I sank into a chair opposite Elwood Bear in his Santa Ana conservatory.

His daily musical activities, finished, he sat with his violin pad still under his chin, occasionally carving a musical note on the clefted paper in his lap. Perhaps these were arrangements for the Santa Ana symphony orchestra of which he is the director, or perhaps they were an original composition. He never told me. However, he continued to write while I cautiously ventured my next question.

"Oh, my orchestra is made up of all ages," was the reply. "That's the nice thing about music. It's a vent for the feelings of all sizes. I think children should grow up with music, so it will become a part of their lives."

Now my speaker was forgetting his writing, and warming to his subject.

"Extensive work with an undeveloped vocal student may cause complete loss of a voice," he revealed. "Galli Curci once said no person should concentrate every amount of physical energy until he reaches 17 or 18. Otherwise the physical ability of the singer may be destroyed, and will result in a complete loss of voice. This does not apply to a violinist."

"Why? Simply because a violin does not require any great amount of physical endurance, as does heavy voice work. But for lasting greatness, a musician must have lived, have seen and felt sufficient emotions to suggest them to his audience. This is why so many child prodigies vanish into obscurity in later life. They are burned out mentally, when they are too young, and the singer, likewise, only physically and mentally."

Now the paper and pencil were completely forgotten. Questions were being answered almost before they were asked.

"Oh yes! People today are music minded. They always have been. But Santa Ana must count herself lucky to have in her midst such a wealth of really good music teachers. It is the teachers who make the young people music conscious. The best teachers can educate the best in their pupils. "Music in the schools is much the same. I endorse it heartily, when accredited, capable teachers are employed. They encourage music for music's sake, not for grades. It is the teachers who can educate the youth to jazz and classical music."

Here was a question which I had been trying to put tactfully, but as the questions led up to it themselves, I ventured to ask his opinion of jazz.

"Why certainly, jazz is here to stay. It has always been with us, but not by this name. Now, as harmonies become more and more complicated, we are finding and grasping a new type of rhythm, which will stay with us, even though the word "jazz" becomes obsolete."

"It will never replace the old masters. It cannot. But I see no reason why the two cannot remain with us, both widely used, but as different as a detective story and an essay."

Mary Stoddard What Is in Mind of Man Who Asks Wife to Re-Establish Their Former Home?

By MARY STODDARD
"Only a man knows what is in a man's mind," writes a miserable young woman who doubts her husband's sincerity in asking her to re-establish their home, while he continues association with "his girl." To men readers she appeals—"Is there any use keeping on?" Dear Miss Stoddard: I had been married 12 years (I am now 30 years of age) when my husband got mixed up with a woman with a pretty shady reputation.

He said that if I didn't like it I could get out. He knew I loved him more than anything in the world. When he found out I was really going, he became pretty abusive. Finally he said he was going to leave town. But he didn't. Instead he stayed at this other woman's home for a while, and then another and another.

I started a divorce and got my first papers. But that time I had men friends, men who would have married me in time. But the first time my husband heard of me having anything to do with any body else he almost had a fit. He came home and both asked and demanded that I drop the divorce.

He sounded so sincere, and against the advice of friends and my parents, I let him come home and dropped the divorce. Maybe it was because I still loved him so much that I wanted to believe in him so badly. At the time he came home I knew he had been going with some girl, but he declared he never intended seeing her again.

The same girl is still in the picture. He sees her every day when he is at work, and more than one party has told me about "this girl." I know positively on one occasion that he went to her apartment instead of working.

Since he came home he has been dear and kind to me and our little girl. The baby adores him. He seems to try hard to be good to us. Is always bringing us some little gift and things like that. I ask this: Can he love me and still carry on an affair with this girl? Or does he just try to make me think he does, because he really doesn't want me himself, but doesn't want anybody else to have me, either?

Is there any use in keeping on and caring for him, and is he worth the heartache and misery that comes from it all? Maybe some reader can answer this. One thing I am sure of, I can't wish some man would send me his idea of the solution of my problem. Other women have gone through the same misery, but only a man knows what is in a man's mind. I would certainly like to know what is in my husband's.

YOUNG WIFE.

When in a "bouquet mood" I think of Miss Hazel Dawson who has directed the work of redecorating the men's and women's lounges at Jaysee and of the Orpheo Troupe members who are touring Orange county high schools this week to advertise our college, and of Mrs. Jennie L. Tesmann and Miss Genevieve Humiston who do much in the local Y. W. C. A. besides fulfilling their duties for us at Jaysee.

Perhaps somehow you failed to hear that El Don now has a traveling correspondent, Dorothy Ryan (one of our former students) left for Honolulu and writes us weekly. Which brings to my mind the proposed trip of Miss Ruth Rowland of the local high school to the islands next fall.

Ernest Crozier Phillips has a knack for turning out talent. Harriet Abrams, last year's Fiesta Day star, was recently selected as leading lady in a U. C. L. A. production. Agnes Brady is to play the feminine lead in this spring's J. Jaysee production, "The Command Performance."

In case you've worried, I was just "society editor" for a day. But it's been fun, exciting, and something I'll always remember.

VOTERS' LEAGUE TO HEAR SPEECH ON WOMEN'S PRISON

Mrs. Everett B. Latham, a member of the board responsible for selection of the sight for the women's prison at Tehachapi, will speak tomorrow to the Santa Ana League of Women Voters on the subject of women's prisons.

The address will be given at the annual luncheon meeting of the league to be held at the Green Cat cafe at 11 a. m. with a business session to be followed by a 12:30 luncheon hour. The annual election of officers will also be staged during the meeting. Reservations for the luncheon are to be made with Mrs. Carrie Watson, telephone 3166.

Mrs. Latham is an ardent advocate of a separate women's governing board for the prison. She will be accompanied by Mrs. C. M. Lazard, president of the Los Angeles league and state officers of the voter's organization.

PAGEANT ON PEACE GIVEN BY SOCIETY

Peace was the dominating theme of the regular meeting of the Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church held yesterday at 2 p. m. at the church. The theme was impressively illustrated by the presentation of a pageant, "The Fruits of Peace" under the direction of Mrs. John Clarkson.

Preceding the pageant, Mrs. Ulrich, secretary pro tem, read a letter to the guests from a student in a Chinese mission school. Mrs. Carhart read a stewardship article on peace, followed by a short talk on the newest developments in the field of missionary work given by Mrs. Horton Palmer.

The pageant was arranged for by Mrs. George Scarvie. Those who took part were Mesdames Irma Rutter, Robert Lowry, C. H. Jeffrey, Jack Snow, Mabel Blake, George Scarvie and Miss Doris Wells. Mrs. W. B. Snow played a piano accompaniment throughout the performance.

Spring Fever Gone

About Swimming

High School Golf

By JOHN HENRY
Sports Editor, El Don

Starting this column today could be likened to diving off a high platform without first having looked to see if the plunge were filled with water. Generator's Ed Velarde, who also is working on The Journal sport section today, is scheduled to finish what I start here at the top, so all complaints can be registered in his direction.

From all appearances in the athletic world, spring fever has suddenly become a thing of the past. The boys, having been more or less content to rest upon their laurels since the last Olympiad in Los Angeles, are getting into the swing of things the past few weeks and are bringing home the bacon in the form of new records in many events.

At the National Amateur swimming championships tournament in Chicago last week it became apparent that the red, white, and blue clads of Uncle Sam were not going to sit idly by this next summer in Berlin and let the Japanese intiators run off with all the honors. The big guns are beginning to hit their stride and the records are due to fall like ten pins hit by a bowling ball.

Even in our local circles, swimming records have been taking a beating. George Jeffries, Fullerton Jaycee luminary, lowered the Pacific coast record for the century breast stroke to 1 min. 7.6 sec. in a meet against the Stanford yearling.

It is a peculiar thing about records. They are established by some athlete whom at the time is taken to be perfection exemplified, they stand for a few months or years, then some chap comes along and sets up a new series of faster marks a foot at.

Herb Thomas, athletic instructor at the local Y. M. C. A., offers this explanation which seems to have the matter covered pretty thoroughly:

"Many of the expert coaches accredited these occurrences, not to any superior development, but to the new scientific style of accomplishing the feat. The progress of the Japanese in the last games did not come entirely as a result of their spending hours in practice so much as it did come as a result of careful study of moving pictures of former champions. Why, the Japanese swimmers never made so much as a single jump before coming to the states, but with a study of the movies, they made a very fine showing."

That Thomas' idea is correct can be easily exemplified by referring to our own friend, Jimmy Smith of the Fullerton schools. Jimmy, coach of aquatics at both the Jaycee and high school there, has been taking average material and developing championship teams for years.

It is a good wager that the boat carrying the American Olympic swimmers will carry a former protégé of Jimmy Smith.

Down at Santa Ana High school there is a sport, still in its infancy at the Parton street plant, that has shown an exceptionally well in the past few months. When Coach W. W. (Bill) Foote decided to establish a golf team, he picked an opportune time. Led by Don Kennedy, 1935 Southern California junior champion, the list of aspirants included a group of enthusiastic boys who wanted to capture the Coast League title if possible. And they've about done it, too!

By downing Long Beach and San Diego (Alhambra didn't enter a team) the Saints paved the way for the second half. Losing only by 2½ points out of a possible 10, the squad consisting of Kennedy, Jack Robinson, Frank Trujillo, Charles Palmer, and Reginald Quintana is preparing to continue its spectacular showing.

One of the remarkable things about the whole affair is that the majority of the squad is composed of boys who knew little or nothing about the fairways until Coach Foote inaugurated the team. Some of these boys cadged at Santa Ana's two golf courses. In that way they became anxious to learn the game.

Byram Bates Sets Record in Track

Byram Bates, sophomore who may blossom into one of Santa Ana High school's varsity "iron-men" before graduation, established his third all-time track record in a track meet which the Saint lightweights lost at Brea, 48 to 20, Tuesday. He ran the 120-yard low hurdles in 14.7 secs. Bates recently set new marks in the high jump and broad jump.

Santa Ana won the Class B meet by the lop-sided score of 89 to 6, but no outstanding times were recorded. Bob Newton bettered his own school record in Class C competition with a 1:36.4 victory in the 660-yard run for the Saints.

Pirates, Giants Grab Lead in National League Chase

DODGERS ARE BAFFLED BY GUMBERT

New York Youngster in Four-Hit Performance Against Brooklyn

(By The Associated Press)

Warfare continued along the major league baseball front yesterday with the Pittsburgh Pirates eking out a 7 to 6 victory for a second consecutive win over the Reds of Cincinnati. Paul Waner of the Pirates and Babe Herman of the Reds each hit home runs.

Bruce Campbell and Frankie Pytkak made seven of the Tribe's 17 hits yesterday as they plastered the world champion Tigers 14 to 7. Campbell clouted four, including a home run.

The heavy hitting which marked the opening games Tuesday continued right down the line with only 22-year-old Harry Gumbert of the Giants turning in an outstanding mound performance.

Gumbert limited the Dodgers to four hits, including a boundary belt by Oscar (Ox) Eckhardt to win a furious contest 5 to 3. The high spot of the game came in the second inning when Dick Bartell tripped over Van Mungo's foot as they raced for first and jumped up to toss a few punches. Both were ejected from the game.

The Boston Bees, abandoning the humble role for which they have been cast, did the day's second best job of hitting when they pounded Philadelphia pitching for 15 blows and evened the series with a 12-4 triumph. The Phils made only one less hit but couldn't come close to matching a nine-run outburst in the fourth.

The Yankees belted three Washington pitchers for an even dozen hits, but went down for the second time, 6 to 5, when the Senators laid into Monte Pearson and Johnny Murphy for four hits, which were joined with an error and two passes for four runs in the seventh inning.

The White Sox outslugged the Browns to win their American league game 5 to 3.

The combination of two ex-Giants, Manager Frank Frisch and Roy Parmelee, proved too much for the Cubs and the Cardinals turned back the National league champions 3 to 2. Parmelee gave only seven blows in a duel with Bill Lee and Frisch's homer with Terry Moore aboard in the fifth won the game.

Borsodi Comes In As Riskitt Makes Profit

Borsodi, old boy, you do fine. Today is my turn to sneer at that Beaten and you help me very much. So I am sneering.

I make only $14.50 net in money yesterday, but I have a fine time because it proves that I am only warming up. That Beaten of course doesn't get any of his goats at all in the money, for which I feel very badly. That is just a polite way of saying nuts to you, Mr. Beaten.

Yesterday Borsodi wins his race in the eighth, paying me $26.50. Marabala comes in second to pay off $16.50. Roller Coaster comes in third for $5.50, and Morale comes in third for 12 fish. Those are all I bet on.

Today I pick some good ones. In the first I am Proud Indian, $10 to place. In the second I am putting $10 right on the nose of that Opening Night. Liolele I figure will walk in the third, so I am betting $10 on his schnozle too. In the fifth I bet $5 to place and $5 to show on Batting Knight, and in the sixth that Pass Up is a cinch, so I bet $5 to win and $5 to place on him.

DUNGAN WAS IN 'BIG TIME'

Sam Won Fame on Diamond

By C. (Tay) RIGGS
(Guest Student Reporter)

The cry of "play ball" heard on major league diamonds as the season opened was sweet memory music to at least one Santa Ana boy this week.

"Laws! I never thought I'd play in the big leagues," Sam Dungan, 70-year-old local resident, said as he gave his trouser legs a good dusting off.

Worshiped Wagner

"I used to worship Wagner and Lajoins when I was a boy, but I never dreamed I would become a major leaguer."

In 1890 at the age of 24, Sam got his first chance with Oakland of the Coast League.

In his first year of professional ball, Sam won the Coast league batting championship. Even yet he has a gold medal, which he was given, tucked away in a treasured lock box to remind him of his accomplishment.

The next season Oakland sent Sam to Milwaukee. Then he went to Kansas City and Omaha. Chicago's famous "Pop" Anson brought him up the next year to play in the big time. Detroit was the next stop and Sam played six years for the Tigers before being returned to Chicago and Kansas City. With the Blues he led the American league in hitting in the first year of his existence.

Ends with Memphis

Dungan was shifted to Washington and Milwaukee before finally being sent to Memphis in the Southern league. In 1905 he ended his playing career with the Memphis Chickens. Sam played 16 years of professional ball.

The old timer declared that the late Ban Johnson was responsible for making baseball the clean, fair sport it is today. In Sam's belief, Honus Wagner and Ed Delahanty were the greatest players of the time, while Lou Gehrig and "Arky" Vaughan, the Fullerton boy, are the present outstanding stars.

Looking back over his career, Sam recalls a game in which he played for Chicago that ended in a 7-7 deadlock with Cincinnati at the close of the 20th inning. Ad Gumbert pitched for the Cubs and Tony Maltin hurled for Cincinnati. Neither twirler allowed a run after the eighth frame.

Asked if he thought the abolition of the spit ball benefited the game, Sam said it undoubtedly did. In his opinion it decreased the casualties, especially to catchers. Baseball always seemed like a pastime to Sam from the time he played the game in the old local park as a boy until he gave it up in his 40's.

"It's too bad the junior college gave up the game, but it's worse for the city to be without a ball park," he said as he reset his hat and resumed his job of rolling his front lawn.

McLarnin confident of easy triumph over Canzoneri

NEW YORK, April 16. (AP)—Jimmy McLarnin, heading back to the boxing ring after nearly a year's absence from the ring, still figures he's good enough to lick Tony Canzoneri. His manager, "Pop" Foster, has the same idea.

Jimmy arrived from Beverly Hills yesterday to prepare for his 10-round battle with the lightweight title-holder at Madison Square Garden May 8, and announced the long lay-off hadn't hurt him a bit.

"You can see for yourself all that talk about me being fat and soft is the baloney," McLarnin asserted. "I'd never come all the way across the country just to lose. It should be a dandy fight. Tony is one of the best in the business."

"He's the same Jimmy McLarnin," Foster continued. "He's boxing well and his footwork is o.k. I just can't see how any fighter—even one as good as Canzoneri—can spot a boy like Jimmy six or seven pounds and whip him. I don't say I'll win by a knockout, but I'm sure Jimmy can outlast Tony."

Well, that was not so good. I can see where Mr. Riskitt is to be a little difficult, what with his yelling and chortling over managing to win a mere smattering yesterday, with his precious form nags.

Of course, mine didn't do so well. As a matter of fact they didn't do at all, but that was just due to a combination of circumstances as they say. Today is different. Is it my fault if I pick three sluggers like Good Dame, Lanty Boy and King Carass and they all run out? They should have won.

I still am ahead of that fellow on money won. What more can anyone ask? So today I pick three more fine long-shots, and bet $5 to place and $5 to show on each one. I'll stop that guy.

Here they are: In the second race, Rotherham; in the sixth race, Ho Mine; and in the eighth race Silver Bond. Goodbye to you, too, Mr. Riskitt. Take a gander at the bankroll.

San Diego Hillers Are Highly Favored Over Local Preps Here

By EDWARD VELARDE
(H. S. Guest Reporter)

Bringing a highly touted track and field force to Poly field, San Diego High school's Hillers engaged the Saints in a Coast league dual meet at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Led by Capt. Bob Henderson, sky-ceilng pole vaulter, the visitors present a formidable squad of cinder men. The Cavemen are considerably stronger than the Saints in the dashes. These shorter running events have always been a source of deep concern for Coach Reece (Pinky) Greene's team.

Santa Ana's squad will be led into the fray by Capt. Blas Mercurio, high jumper. Since there will be only class A competition, Coach Greene is entering several class B and C athletes. The Saints' only certain points appear with Mercurio in the high jump, and Leonard Stafford in the pole vault. Main attraction should be the duel between Stafford and Henderson. Henderson has vaulted 12 ft. 9 in. several times this season. Stafford's best mark is 12.6.

Santa Ana entries:

100—Adams, Lutz; 220—Adams, Lutz; 220 low hurdles—Nott; 120 high hurdles—Mercurio, Gaebe, Hamaker; 440—Titensor, Price; 880—Opp, Waggenner, Schilling; mile—Granados, Whitney; broad jump—Nott, Bates; high jump—Mercurio, Johnson, Stump; pole vault—Stafford, Nitta, Dresser; Tedrow; shot put—Short, Patterson; discus—Stafford, Opp, Patterson.

A brilliant triple play helped boost Seattle's Indians into a 4-2 win over the San Francisco Seals.

Floyd Olds hurled his first full game of the season for Oakland and shut out the San Diego Padres, 2-0, allowing only six singles.

Portland's Beavers landed on the Los Angeles hurlers for 14 hits and a 9-5 win. "Hobo" Carson was none too steady for Portland but he hammered out a home run and a double. Wes Schuler, Angel rightfielder, also homed. The victory moved Portland up into fifth place, over San Diego.

LOS ANGELES, April 16. (AP)—Joe Savoldi is still winning wrestling matches with the dropkick he learned on the Notre Dame gridiron.

Whittier Golfers Beat Rotarians

Led by H. J. Marsh, the Whittier Rotary club golfers defeated the Santa Ana aggregation at the Hacienda Country club in Whittier yesterday afternoon.

The Santa Ana Rotarians were on the short end of a 6 to 7 score when the results were tabulated. Among the locals were C. H. Chapman, Guy Gilbert, Walter Vandermast, Dick Emison, Herb Miller, Frank Drumm, C. V. Davis, Harvey Gardner, Ben MacMullen, Ward Ackler, and Milan Muller.

Fullerton Humbles Don Swimmers

Coach Jimmy Smith's highly touted Fullerton Jaycee Hornets turned in a decisive 60-22 defeat over Al Reboin's newly-formed Don natators at the Andrews gymnasium yesterday.

The performances of George Jeffries in the century breast stroke and of all-American "Hank" Chapman in the diving featured the meeting.

The Dons were unable to garner a single first place. Capt. Nolan Hasson shone for Santa Ana.

City League Ball Nines Open May 4

Santa Ana City league night-ballers will swing into their regular season Monday, May 4, it was voted last night at the regular meeting of the baseball managers in the city hall.

Lloyd Banks, secretary, read the league rules and they were accepted by all managers present. Some discussion over the residence rule took place and it was decided to leave the rule as drawn that all players must reside in work out of Santa Ana or receive their mail through rural delivery out of Santa Ana.

The league will be composed of eight teams, headed by last year's champion Elks, the Commercial National bank, First National bank, Carpenters, and M. E. South. Newcomers are Joe's grocery, Knights of Columbus and Mormons.

Practice dates at the Municipal bowl:

April 16—M. E. South vs. Commercial National bank.

April 20—Commercial National bank vs. undecided (first game); First National bank vs. Carpenters (second game).

April 21—M. E. South vs. Knights of Columbus.

April 23—Reserved for Elks.

April 27—Reserved for First National bank.

April 29—Carpenters vs. M. E. South.

April 30—Knights of Columbus vs. Outside team.

ORANGE CUBS BATTLE S. B. TONIGHT

With their scrappy manager Liston (Memphy) Hill back in harness for a practice game with the San Bernardino Stubbys, Orange's chattering Cubs will make another home appearance on the Orange city park diamond at 8 o'clock tonight. Hill has been ill with the flu.

There will be a 10-cent admission charge.

The Stubbys are one of the most powerful nines in the American league. They recently held the Santa Ana Stars to a 3 to 3 draw in 10 innings. Manager Les White has signed some new players within the last few days, as well as a new coach, Chief Myers, former major leaguer with the New York Giants.

Manager Hill has announced he will probably start Roger Larimer on the mound and Hal Welty behind the plate. Lloyd Lichtenwalter and Claude Gregory, other pitchers, will see action. Venn Botts or Bob "Lefty" Fowler will toil for the visitors.

The rest of the Orange team will line up with Larry Leichtfuss at first base, Ted Walker at second, Walt Leichtfuss at short, Manager Hill at third, Bob Mott in left field, Walt Gunther in center and Bris Richardson in right field.

Mrs. Chapman Wins Ladies' Day Golf

Mrs. Charles Chapman won a ladies' day golf tournament at the Willowick golf course yesterday. Next Wednesday a putting event will be held, it was announced.

Billy R. Champion, Race With S. A. Greyhounds Tonight

By JOHN HENRY
(J. C. Guest Reporter)

Eight races, bringing together winners of previous events, will constitute the regular greyhound meeting at the Orange County Downs tonight.

Billy R., who defeated Stella A. in a featured match race last night, will be thrown against the field in the last race this evening, a futurity. Hazard Maid, by following the speedy Royalist to the tape in the third event last night showed that she will give the Norton dog a run for the money.

Virtually all of last night's winners will be seen in action again tonight in the various events and close matches are expected to furnish plenty of excitement for the large crowd that has been in attendance since the opening of the course last week.

Tonight's Entries

NEWPORT, ANAHEIM TO BE HOSTS

Major and Minor Events To Decide Entrants For Tustin Finals

By DUNCAN CLARK
(J. C. Guest Reporter)

Orange, Anaheim, Huntington Beach and Newport High schools, favorites in the Orange County Prep league track and field meet April 24 at Tustin will be put "on the spot" at 3 o'clock tomorrow when they tangle for qualifying places in the major and minor division meets at Anaheim and Newport.

Orange, Anaheim and Huntington Beach will vie for the four qualifying places in the major division at Anaheim. Newport Harbor, Brea-Olinda, Tustin, Garden Grove, San Juan Capistrano and Laguna Beach will fight for the four places in the minor group.

Coach Stewart White's Orangemen, champions last year, will be faced with a real task in repeating their lopsided victory. Coach's Dick Ryan of Anaheim, Harry Sheue of Huntington Beach and Ralph (Shorty) Reed of Newport Harbor are making determined bids for the title. The meet tomorrow should go a long way in determining the grand championship at Tustin a week from Friday.

A few of the outstanding performers battling for places in the Major meet at Anaheim are Captain Elmer Wagers of Orange, last year's 880 champion; his teammate, Norman Burbridge, in the same event; Marshall Tinsley, Huntington Beach's premier sprinter, and double winner last year in the 100 and 200 yards, and in the mile a real duel between De La Cruz of Huntington Beach, La Porta of Anaheim and Danielson of Orange looms.

Tinsley will go after both sprint records tomorrow, according to Coach Harry Sheue of the Oilers. Tinsley turns 20 two days

New School Ready Soon

NEXT September one more chapter in the history of Santa Ana High school will close and another chapter will begin. At that time the student body will have completely vacated the buildings it occupied for 22 years and will begin its life in the new set of buildings, structures we are told which will be essentially the same 50 years from now. This combination of beginning and end recalls many things.

In 1913 the high school administration building was opened and served its purpose well for 20 years. Then came the earthquake of March, 1933, which so damaged the structures that new ones were sought. In 1934 some buildings were torn down and construction and plans began for new buildings. Last fall additional money for these new buildings was sought by a bond election. This was refused, but shortly afterwards the students were removed from the old buildings and after a period of half-day schedules began school in tents. Later a second bond election brought the money necessary for completion of the structures. Next September this chapter of high school history will close.

When approximately 100 boys and girls of Santa Ana come to high school this fall they will find new buildings and a new campus awaiting them. There will be the auditorium with its seating capacity of 1500, its newly upholstered seats, and its carefully planned furnishings. There will be the new class rooms, able to accommodate 50 students each; the study halls with a seating capacity of 200; the art rooms with modern designs and scientifically arranged sky lights. The library will be ready artistically furnished and designed. The offices will be put in use, made more attractive by increased size and ingenuity of architects. The new science building will continue its work of accommodating social science and science classes.

Twenty-two successful years have been completed in the old high school buildings. May many times that number of successful years be completed in the new.

Youth vs. Adults

NEWEST among the perennial complaints of the younger generation is the one originated in Pasadena this week when that city's youth filed a complaint in superior court charging the "adult society of Pasadena" with five counts of criminal neglect.

Paramount among the issues is the contention that the students are not given adequate and unbiased education, especially in regard to controversial subjects. Could it not be that those who have lodged the complaint do not recognize a controversial subject when they encounter one? We do not feel that educational facilities in this city are any different than those in Pasadena, yet the students here are acquiring an apercpective mass around which they group their thoughts. They are presented with all sides of any issue and then allowed, even encouraged, to draw their own conclusions.

Other complaints are that inadequate care is being taken of the physical and mental health of the young and that facilities to fully meet leisure needs are lacking. Pasadena, located in the very heart of the metropolitan district has more opportunities for leisure enjoyment and for the care of the physical health of individuals than has any other city of comparable size. With its wonderful educational and gymnastic facilities, as well as its Civic auditorium and Rose bowl, there seems to be no room for complaint from that quarter.

It is also alleged that the opportunity for a normal, secure and happy married life is denied them. The marriage proposition cannot be attacked before the pact is entered into, and then it is up to the individuals, not society, to determine the success or failure of the step.

The whole issue simmers down to one point: lack of initiative on the part of the plaintiffs. If they were to try to better their own conditions, rather than make their parents do it for them, they would appreciate any new position that they might attain just that much more.

What About Collegiate Week?

NEWPORT-BALBOA's annual headache, "Collegiate Week," has passed, and with it the storm of criticism and complaint raised by many oldsters who have perennial visions of downfall of the youth of America.

The celebration was described as "quiet," but that is because a feeling of foreboding, a fog of dejection, settled over the region. None of the persons who had gone down there to forget his studies and cares for a week could do it because of the adverse publicity given the occasion. The too evident policemen, all swinging wicked looking night sticks, made it very plain that no juvenile pranks would be tolerated. Not even laughing and dancing during a nocturnal meal.

Although there were some cases that needed official attention, they were very few in proportion to the population of the district. Many of these recalcitrants who had to be whipped into line were of high school age, feigning sophistication by attempting to show their ability to act equal to an age they had not attained.

The solution of the problem lies, not in police patrols, but education in the home. The youngsters must be taught the difference between right and wrong, temperance and overindulgence, before being allowed to step out from under the parental wing. Proper chaperonage of house parties would also help to lessen the evil of flight from the family fireside, with the resulting morning-after headache.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

New York's chief point of interest for the sightseer is by long odds Radio City. With the Empire State building next. Europeans, where skyscrapers are so little known, make the Empire their first stop, but the American tourists prefer the broadcast studios.

Radio City for a few months after its opening offered a depressing spectacle of store and office space. No one could admire its architecture extravagantly without experiencing a wince at its devastating, costly desolation. Many believed it would be the city's No. 1 eyesore.

The few magnificent establishments that lodged there appeared entirely lost in what many thought a building blunder. A mistake that might impair one of America's largest fortunes. The change to opulence was not gradual. The area bloomed over night. Like Magic.

The new steamship center congested en masse. A dozen ultra shopping strips gobbled up large and small vacancies. The horticultural decorations made it a bower of beauty. In fact, its rise out of almost hopeless inertia has been one of the major triumphs of the let down.

Fay Templeton, a good trouper playing many parts in a distinguished career, refused to permit sniveling over a sudden roller in real life—a gentle rocker on the porch of an actors' home. When her plight was discovered, she sent out word: "I'm fine and happy."

Miss Templeton like many others, thought she had arrived at retirement years with material sufficiency for comfort, only to find her safety vault box held worthless scraps of paper. But when her plight became known she became a hostess in a Pittsburgh hotel. Then the flood!

Frank Faye returns to Hollywood with something of a personal as well as a professional triumph. For several years he had winnowed the studios' coldest star and his domestic life was mused up as the result of his divorce by the lovely Barbara Stanwyck. His success on the Vallee hour, however, was one of the spectacular of the year. So the prodigal goes back as the star of sponsored radio program and likely his choosing of a cinema role.

In a booth at Lindy's a recent evening, someone informs me the occupants were George Burns and Gracie Allen, Fred and Portland Allen, the Jack Bennys and the Goodman Aces. Each couple happily married, all the husbands comedians working with comedienne wives. Also although in a highly competitive field and both men and women, exploiting almost the identical brand of humor, the four couples are the staunchest friends and often spend relaxing hours together. My informant also says the dinner party seemed a scene of humor. The conversation to appearances was scattery, monosyllabic, dry.

One of the newest of the bright young advertising whizzes is Fred Smith, who at the age of 27 is the youngest major executive in the larger agencies. He came from Troy, O., three years ago to write fiction, landed in a few pulp but became so discouraged he was about to return to his home town. One morning he walked into the advertising agency and in the eloquence of despair talked himself into a copy writing job.

From that he went like a shot to more important posts. Such happenings are especially pertinent in the constant yowling youth no longer has opportunity. That the Big Chance is dead!

Sudden memory: The yellow water bucket and tin dipper on the little bench beside the kitchen stoop.

Thingamabobs: Roy Howard's checkered shirts caused crowds to follow him in Moscow when he went to interview Stalin. . . . Noel Coward's latest is white shirts with vivid colored collars. . . . Gov. Alf Landis likes a good Oppenheim mystery. . . . Raeburn Van Buren, successful magazine illustrator, still attends art classes. . . . Anthony Eden likes green olives with salt for breakfast. . . . Heywood Brown dines with his mother once a week and is always lectured for his union labor sympathies. . . . The smart shops of Paris are leaving the rue de la Paix for the Faubourg St. Honore.

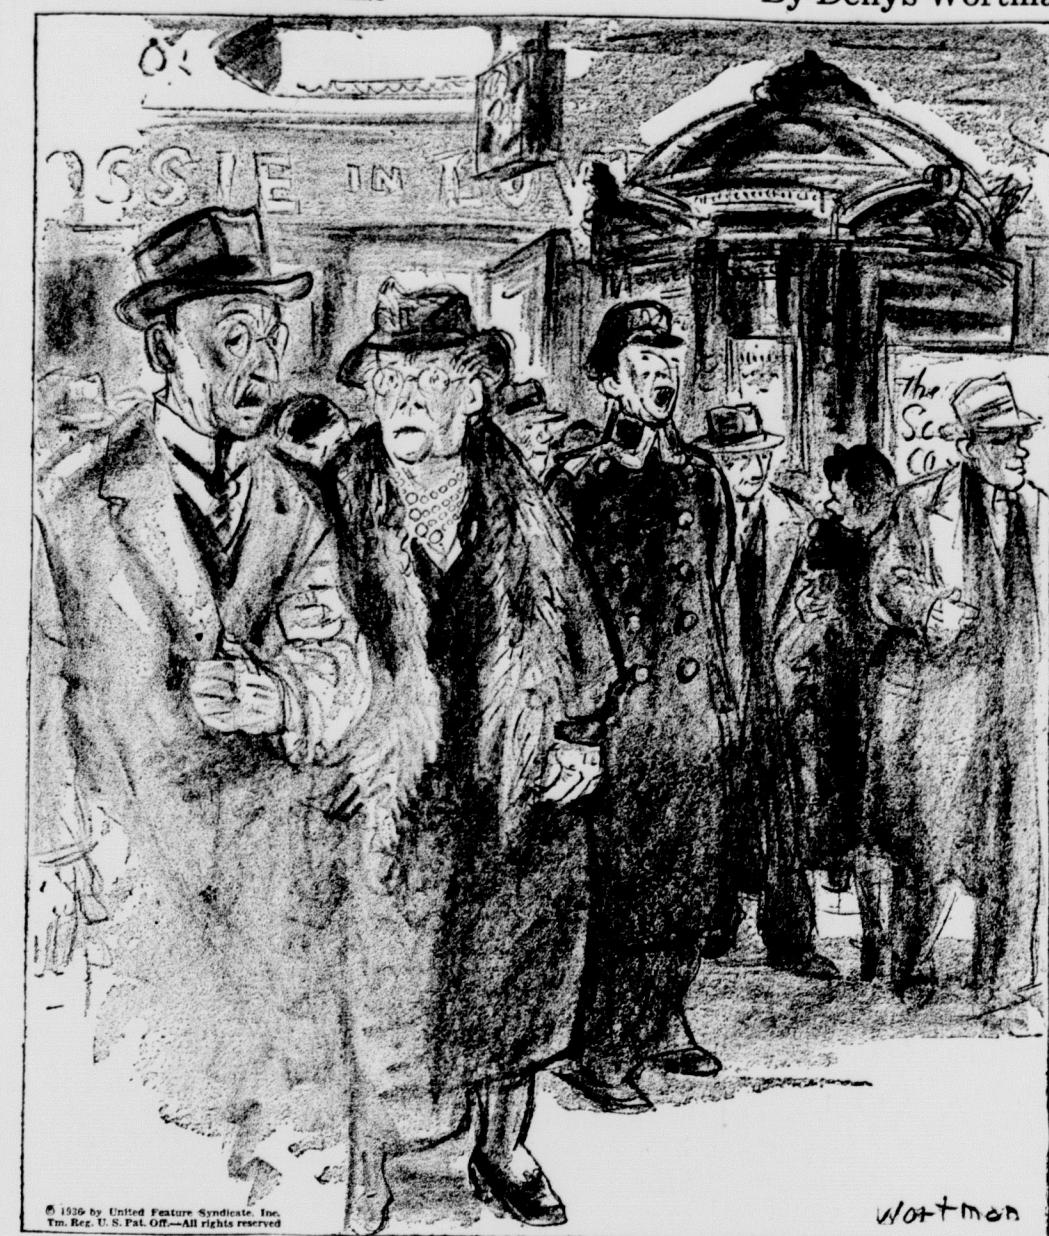

Most of us jitter-jitters can sympathize with the young man quitting a tea to rush to Newark for his initial air journey to Hollywood. To Miriam Hopkins he twittered: "I'm flying to flight my first coast in the air and land to hope is all I can."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Securities-Exchange Commission is being sued by five large corporations to prevent publication of the salaries and other compensation paid their officers.

Yet, simultaneously, the salaries are a matter of public record. The suit eventually will go to the supreme court, but until then the SEC is not supposed to divulge the salary secrets of the five firms.

Anyone who really wants to, however, need only look through the treasury's income tax report sent to the house ways and means committee recently.

Here are the salaries which the five companies pay:

American Can—H. W. Phelps, president, $121,530; C. E. Green, vice-president, $140,000; F. S. Wheeler, chairman of the board, $76,360.

Evans Products—E. S. Evans, president, $45,000 in salary and $90,000 in bonuses.

United States Tobacco—John L. De Voe, president, $35,000 in salary and $27,820 in bonuses; L. A. Bowers, vice-president, $18,000 in salary and $27,820 in bonuses; J. D. Carhart, vice-president, $18,500 in salary and $6,155 in bonuses.

Matheson Alkali—E. M. Allen, president, $36,400.

National Biscuit—R. M. Tomlinson, president, $106,500; Frederick Beers, vice-president, $59,450.

YOURS FOR PEACE

Frederick Libby of the National Council for the prevention of war, who has been opposing the war department "peace bonds" to finance a drive for reduction of armament. He hit upon the idea of selling them in Hollywood.

One of his buyers was Anita Louise, young screen actress. After the bond was purchased, Miss Louise consented to be interviewed and pose for the photographs.

"Miss Louise," asked one newspaper, "what is your opinion of peace and war?"

She replied the movie star, applying a touch of rouge, "I think peace is nicer."

YES AND NO

The American Federation of Labor, which maintains a regular "investigative agent" on Capitol Hill (usually called "lobbyist"), is wondering just who he really represents.

The gentleman in question, William C. Hushing, recently appeared before the senate immigration committee in favor of the Kerr-Coolidge bill. This would give immigration officials discretion not to break up families by deporting worthy aliens.

The A. F. of L. is for the bill, and Hushing gave a perfunctory endorsement. Suddenly fiery-tongued Senator Reynolds of North Carolina burst into the picture. He wanted to know if the Kerr-Coolidge bill really received Hushing's endorsement.

Hushing stammered, fumbled for words, finally said:

"I am terribly handicapped, senator, that is to go along with the views of my superior officers, of course."

"Well, what about Section 4?" demanded Reynolds. "Are you for that or against it?"

"I am not supposed to express personal opinions. But I am going to do so anyway. The section is very bad, in my opinion. I would never agree to it."

Starting from there, Hushing ripped into the entire bill and assailed both Secretary Perkins and

A POSSIBLE SOLUTION (Redlands Daily Facts)

Relief of pressure from lower basin areas for water originating in the upper San Joaquin river, which has resulted in controversy and ill feeling between San Bernardino and Orange counties, may result from a proposal to construct a branch aqueduct and divert a portion of the Colorado river flow into Orange county. Should the entire county become a part of the Metropolitan Water district, it is stated, the plan may be carried out. Santa Ana, Fullerton and Anaheim are already members of the district. At present the major portion of county irrigators are dependent upon the Santa Ana river for water, and resent the continued use and spreading operations carried on in the upper stream at Redlands. An additional supply from such a source as the aqueduct would seem to be the most effective proposition for ending the problem. The branch aqueduct would take about half the flow, and carry it to Orange county. Some additional water might be piped to San Diego county, for delivery at Lake Hodges for the San Diego city supply.

GOVERNMENT BUYS ORANGES (Redlands Daily Facts)

According to news reports an allotment of two million dollars has been made by the federal government for purchase of citrus fruits of California and Arizona, for distribution among those in relief. An analysis of the order indicates that this particular district, will on the first order, supply possibly 100 boxes of fruit, so no great benefit to the industry in any particular locality may be expected. The first purchase in California will amount to 15 cars of navelis, five of valencias, and five of grapefruit. The important phase of this is that citrus fruits have finally been recognized as an important factor in food relief purchases. Vast quantities of meat products and wheat products have been issued, but not until now has citrus fruit been recognized by the government as an essential part of the ration for those on relief.

FAIRLEY'S TWO OFFICES (New York Times)

Postmaster General Fairley has sailed for a short vacation in Bermuda, leaving word that he has no intention, when he returns, of giving up either his cabinet office or his position as chairman of the Democratic national committee. The only people who object to his holding two jobs, he told the ship news reporters, are those who would rather he didn't hold any. But this does not describe the situation accurately. Senator Norris, for one, is an eager advocate of President Roosevelt's re-election; he has expressed no criticism of Mr. Fairley's activities as committee chairman, but he has very definite objections, vigorously expressed on frequent occasions, to Mr. Fairley's activities as postmaster general.

In an administration which prides itself on the reforms it has introduced, Mr. Fairley has made no break with the traditions of the spoils system. Criticism of his appointments has been widespread. In many cases it has been justified. There is no reason in the world, other than the compelling force of politics, why all appointments to the postal service should not be put on the merit system, and certainly no reason, for the good of that service, why Mr. Fairley need remain at the head of it as the Democratic party prepares to enter a national campaign. On the contrary, there are excellent reasons why he should resign his cabinet office before the Philadelphia convention. His party would profit if Mr. Fairley's Bermuda vacation gave him enough perspective to permit him to see why the active manager of a political campaign ought not to be in charge simultaneously of the affairs of a government department.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Do Our Highways Really Pull Us Out of the Mud?

TO PICK out America's greatest stride toward material improvement in the last generation is a difficult matter. But all will agree that highway construction is among our greatest achievements. When this country began seriously to pull itself out of the mud, and roll along on concrete ribbons progress was at hand. Time and distance shrink to shadows where rapid communication is possible. And the worst burden of the frontier is isolation, produced by rivers of mud, and slush, smothering snow and drifting sand.

Untold billions of money have been poured into highway construction. No one can count the immeasurable returns in social and economic betterment. Nor the increase in national solidarity. Few of those who clamored for better roads expected, as a necessary result, the breakdown of local government and the rapid erosion of state lines. But faster travel and better lines of communication must mean an increasing consolidation in all phases of American life.

Last year the federal government subsidized road improvement to the extent of $125,000,000. This did not include new extensions, but merely "improving" existing

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

By WALT BANDICK (Editor, jaycee El Don, posing as columnist today only)

After I was informed that I was to contribute to this column, I immediately secured 60 back issues of the Journal and tried to discover what Skinny has been scribbling about for the last 60 days. After reading 60 of this little old fella's columns for three hours (one every three minutes on an average) I was a little bit dizzy and gathered that the author must have been losing his wits. I thought that all good writers are a little bit dizzy, and if Skinny is just a little extra dizzy it's only a sign that he's an extra good writer. After reading 60 of his columns in three hours I know he is, and now instead of setting my life goal as being a second Arthur Brisbane, I want to be as good a writer as Skinny Skirvin is some day, and write for as good a paper as ye Journal, and I'm not kidding either.

If you don't think the Journal people are fine, you should have been down at the office with us here today. Just think, letting a bunch of kids tromp in and put out the paper for the day (with a little assistance here and there, of course). Think of the risk they are taking of losing their subscribers and advertisers. It's a great risk—but one we sincerely appreciate.

Let me tell you the things I like best about the Journal because I will just prove to you how young and foolish I am. First, of all, I like this column. It is new and different every day. I also like the editorial page cartoon (Everyday Movies, not Skinny's picture). Denys Wortman, the fellow who draws those cartoons has a wonderful sense of humor, in my humble estimation. The boarding house sketches are especially good. Then there are the features by Roch Bradshaw. I interviewed Roch once for El Don, and think he is the best feature writer in Orange county. I also like the type used in the Journal headlines and various other things, but I shall stop before you begin to think I am getting a compensation for this line of chatter.

The things I like best about Santa Ana include some of the handsome buildings like the Masonic temple, Montgomery-Ward store, Goodell building, Orange County Title company, Reliance building and of course the new city hall. There is only one thing about the city hall that I cannot appreciate with completely. I cannot get that aesthetic pleasing when I look at the hideous green roof which tops the tower over the entrance like a "beanie" on a freshman's proboscis. Oh, woe is me. What made the councilmen or whoever did it? decide on a pineapple—that—and it is the most prominent portion of the building too!

While on the subject of pretty buildings my mind wanders to the beautiful homes on Riverside and that vicinity, the Hyde park of Santa Ana. I wonder how many folks really appreciate it?

Things I don't like about Santa Ana are Birch park (where I spent some three days working off a speeding fine once) and the city synopses that put me there. As if it weren't bad enough pinching me on Main street they had to do it right in front of jaycee, my alma mater, where all of my colleagues look on and hoot and give me the bird and make sundry and degrading remarks in the presence of my friends, the officers?

Have you heard it? I did again yesterday. That distressing remark some fellow's just can help sputtering every time they see me in the five-and-ten: "Well, we see you are doing your Kress-mas shopping." Not a bad idea, though. According to the small advertisement on the large advertisement hanging on the wall nearby, there are just eight months and eight days until December 25.

They continue to tell us that Orange county is general, and Costa Mesa, in particular, should have a prison farm. When I was a little boy they used to explain what terrible dungeons prisons had and how dark and distasteful the entire institutions were. Why establish one here and flourish orange groves, beautiful scenery, friendly people, and in the heart of the finest section to be found in these United States.

Some years ago a journalism student came to Santa Ana with a group of U. S. boys and girls to edit The Times which was published here then. His name was John H. McCoy and he spent most of his time writing editorials and filling a column called "The Column" conducted by Skinny Skirvin. Today, McCoy teaches journalism and has his own crew getting out this paper and I have been the guy who tried to write as Skinny would. It has been great fun and a real experience. Mr. Skirvin, regardless of how poorly we may have done the job. Thanks a million.
